

23 April 2021

Dear Parent / Carer,

You may remember that I wrote to you in November to outline our curriculum overview for Personal Development which is delivered during Form Time Learning across years 7-11. As part of that communication, I explained that from September 2020 it has become a statutory requirement for schools to deliver relationships and sex education (RSE) as part of their curriculum. As an ethos driven school, we strongly believe in the value of a wider curriculum to support our students' personal well-being and development. Following a period of parental and student consultation, we had planned for RSE to be delivered after Christmas. Unfortunately, this was affected by the second national lockdown. Consequently, RSE will now be delivered this term with lessons starting next week.

Our RSE policy, which includes a curriculum map of the themes and topics covered within RSE and our Personal Development curriculum, is available on the school website on the following link;
<http://www.george-spencer.com/wp-content/uploads/2020/11/Relationships-and-Sex-Education-Policy.pdf>

If you have any questions please do not hesitate to contact me or your child's director of learning.

Yours sincerely,

Jonathan Dakers
Assistant Principal for Pupil Development and Well Being